New film: System Update

climate.film

Southampton, UK, November 2023. For Immediate Release.

The climate crisis is speeding up and society needs to respond with a fundamentally better plan - a System Update. Our existing economic system is driving us towards disaster within the lifetime of younger generations, while governments are relying on untested technologies to avert disaster. System Update shows how we can change our systems, how we can win, because this is the task that we must do now.

Producers Paul Maple and Dr. James Dyke have brought together world-leading experts and change makers to clearly explain this important story and inspire hope. The significant majority of people want the changes needed according to the United Nations. System Update does not shy away from risks we and future generations urgently face, but also shows how we could change our systems to avoid disaster. System Update offers understanding, ideas and inspiration for action.
